2. Crews Missing in Action

18 March 1945

749th Squadron

Berlin, Germany

3 Me-262's attacked the high flight of the low squadron. A/C 203 was flying number three in this flight. The E/A attacked from the tail, making one pass and each apparently firing at one of the B-17's. Moderate to intense, accurate, continuously pointed flak was encountered from about five minutes before the Me-262 attack. #2 engine appeared to catch fire. A/C 203 apparently kept on flying normally immediately after the attack; then #2 engine suddenly caught on fire. The aircraft went into a steep glide for several thousand feet. It did not appear to be out of control when lost to view in clouds amid the excitement of the situation. From six to nine parachutes were seen. The flight in which A/C 203 was flying number three was out of position and to the left of the lead flight at the time of the attack.

749th Squadron

Hopsten, Germany

Moderate to moderate, accurate flak was encountered at the target area. A/C 42-38113 was hit by flak in vicinity of number 4 engine, engine caught fire and gas or fumes appeared to stream out. After aircraft peeled off from formation, fire seemed to go out. Aircraft was not out of control. No parachutes seen. A/C 113 was hit at about 0950 hours, shortly before first dry run over target. A/C 113 dropped its bombs and closed its bomb-day doors.

751st Squadron

Hopsten, Germany

Moderate, very accurate flak was encountered in Munster envelope of fire, where A/C 43-38854 was hit. There was no enemy aircraft opposition. A/C 854 was apparently hit directly by a shell which did not burst on contact. About 4 or 9 feet of the right wing was cut off. There was a flash where the flak hit but no fire visible thereafter. After being hit, A/C 854 peeled off to right, turned over on its back and went down out of control. It was in a sort of spin. It appeared to break apart back of the wings, the fuselage separating from the wings. When it was last seen, the wings were still in a sort of spin. The A/C was not seen to catch on fire. One chute was reported coming from A/C 854, but what part of the aircraft it came from was not reported.

Analysis of Bomb Strikes, Fulda Mission, 19 March, 1945

Lead Squadron Bombfall

The lead squadron dropped its bombs on the marshalling yards at Fulda which was fully loaded with railway waggons. Most of the bursts occurred short of and just outside the yards. With an aiming point on the through lines through the yards 80% of the bombs hit within a 1000-foot circle.

A very large explosion occurred in the middle of the yards sending a column of smoke thousands of feet high in a few seconds. This explosion shattered most of the three to four hundred waggons packed in the yards and also blew houses apart located 1800 feet away. This source of the explosion could only have been from waggons of ammunition or dynamite, not gasoline.

At least twenty other bombs fell in the yards with one on the locomotive roundhouse. Destruction of rolling stock with the yards should be complete.

Low Squadron Bombfall

The low squadron bombs fell 2,500 feet to the right of the lead pattern and 1,200 feet short of the main rail lines passing through Fulda. The pattern covered a residential subdivision of 35 houses and four large buildings in an adjoining barracks area. Severe damage to these housings and buildings should result.

High Squadron Bombfall

The high squadron bombed Flauen through clouds.

OPERATIONAL NARRATIVE

Mission #184

LITZKENDORF

9 February 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at 7,000 feet as briefed.

The Route over England was flown approximately as briefed except that the formation swung about five miles north of course between Point "A" and Point "D", in order to make timing good at Control Point #1.

Control Point #1 was reached on time and a little north of course. Division Assembly Line was flown left of course, with the Group in proper position.

Course to the target was flown approximately as briefed. The formation swung wide of course at 50-28N and 09-42E while getting bombing wind.

The Group cut the briefed I.P. about three miles short because of cloud cover. Bombing was done in squadron formation, with each squadron performing its own sighting operation. Cloud coverage was 7 to 8/10ths, and visibility was very poor. Target area was obscured by a shadow from a cloud. Bombing by lead squadron was accomplished by triangulation. Low and high squadrons used combined grid and circular bombing technique with the target area and MPI covered at the time of BRL. The MPI was not sighted. The 500 lb GP's were dropped at 1257 from 25,000 feet.

Bombing results were reported as generally good.

After bombing, rally was accomplished without difficulty. The formation swung wide after the first turn after the target, coming back on course at 5110N-1005E. Return route was flown approximately as briefed. The English coast was crossed at Felixstowe about 17 minutes late because winds were not as briefed. A normal let-down was made and the Group landed without incident.

Mission #185

DULMEN

10 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 21,000 feet. The Group was late in forming and consequently left the Buncher behind schedule.

As a result of leaving the Buncher late, the formation began to fly a direct route to Control Point #1 in order to make control times good. Upon nearing Control Point #1, it was learned that the Wing formation was behind the 457th Group and it became necessary to execute a 360 degree turn in order to assemble with the Combat Wing in proper position.

Control Point #1 was reached on course and in proper position in Division column. Division Assembly Line was flown in trail of the Division Leader. Halfway over the Channel, it was necessary to climb to briefed altitude plus 1,500 feet in order to avoid clouds.

SECRET

After crossing the continent, the Group Leader heard the scouting force report the target area as 10/10ths and advised circling in order to permit the target area to clear. The formation followed the Division lead and executed 3 1/2 to 4 360 degree turns in the area between Rotterdam and Antwerp for 38 to 40 minutes. The scouting force then advised the Division column to approach the primary target for a visual run in case the weather cleared, and if conditions were not favorable for visual bombing to pass on to the secondary target and bomb by instruments.

A run was made on the primary target, but it was covered and the formation proceeded to the secondary target. Bombing was done in squadron formation. It was necessary for the formation to climb on the bomb run because the tops of the clouds were at 26,000 feet. Contrails were moderate and fairly persistent. The Group lead A/C's Micro-H equipment failed three minutes before the HRL and it was necessary to release the bombs on the smoke markers of the 351st Group. The low and high squadrons performed their own sightings, dropping their 1000 lb GP's at 1359 from 27,000 feet; the low squadron veered to the left just before bombs away, in order to avoid the high squadron's bombs. Cloud coverage was 8/10ths.

Bombing results were unobserved due to 10/10ths cloud coverage.

The Group rallied without difficulty. On the first turn after the turn off the target, the Group deviated to the right of course, following the Wing leader. Cycle Relay advised the formation to let down to 2,000 feet before entering England. The Group executed several 360 degree turns over the Channel, letting down in the clear in order to get beneath the anticipated cloud base. Remainder of the route was uneventful.

Mission #186

DRESDEN

14 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 9,500 feet as briefed.

The route over England was flown approximately as briefed. Wing assembly was accomplished without difficulty.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. Division Assembly Line was flown as briefed.

Shortly after crossing the enemy coast, the formation came upon increasingly difficult weather conditions. It became necessary for the formation to climb to briefed altitude plus 1,700 feet to avoid clouds and contrails. Deviations to the left and right of course from 5240N-0800E to the I.P. were executed in order to remain in Division column. The I.P. was reached seven minutes early because winds were not as briefed.

Cloud coverage in the target area was 5 to 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb the secondary target by instruments. Bombing was done in Group formation, with the lead aircraft of the lead squadron performing the sighting operation. The 500 lb RDX bombs were dropped at 1220 1/2 from 26,700 feet.

SECRET

[REDACTED]

Bombing results were reported as fair to good, but partly obscured by cloud coverage.

After bombing, the Group rallied with the Division and proceeded on the return route. At 5226N-0625E, it was decided to proceed directly to base, as the formation was low on gasoline. The English coast was crossed at Felixstowe, a normal let-down was made and the Group landed without incident. Eight aircraft landed on the continent because they were low on fuel.

Mission #187

DRESDEN

15 February 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at 8,500 feet as briefed.

Three minutes were subtracted from the flight plan, and it was necessary for the Group to cut off Points "C" and "D" and proceed directly to Control Point #1 in order to gain time. The Group had assembled in Wing formation without difficulty.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division column. Division Assembly Line was flown approximately as briefed.

The route to the target was uneventful. Course to the I.P. was flown in proper position in Division formation. Deviations to the left of course were necessary in order to remain in formation.

The Group Leader contacted the scouting force, who informed him that primary target was 10/10ths covered. Group Leader was also informed that the secondary target was 10/10ths with breaks in clouds. It was suggested that the Group bomb the secondary by PFF, with a possible visual assist. Suggestion was followed and the Group attacked Dresden in Group formation by means of instruments, dropping their 250 lb GP's at 1154 $\frac{1}{2}$  from 26,700 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to cloud coverage.

After bombing, the Group experienced some difficulty in rejoining the formation when it became wedged in between Deenethorpe and "Swordfish Able". It became necessary to swing outside of and around them in order to avoid shuffling the deck. In so doing, the formation became scattered and it was a short interval before the Group reassembled and rejoined the Division column. The remainder of the route was flown in Division formation. A let-down was begun from 21,000 feet after crossing friendly lines to 4,000 feet over Belgium. Over the Channel, the formation let down to 1,500 feet in order to get below the clouds. The English coast was crossed at Felixstowe and the Group landed without incident.

Mission #188

GELSENKIRCHEN

16 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 10,000 feet as briefed.

In the route over England, slight deviations in course were necessary to avoid clouds. The Wing assembled without difficulty.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Control Point #1 was reached on time and on course. The Group was at 1500 feet above briefed altitude, acting upon a recommendation from the Division Leader, in order to avoid clouds. The Group was in proper position in Division column and flew the Division Assembly Line approximately as briefed.

Course from the end of the Division Assembly Line to the I.P. was flown as briefed, except that it was necessary for the Group to go 1,000 feet above briefed altitude in order to avoid dense, persistent contrails. The I.P. was reached on course.

The Group made a run on the primary target, in squadron formation. It was necessary to bomb by Gee-II equipment because dense, persistent contrails caused by aircraft of the preceding formation and fog made it impossible to perform a visual sighting operation. Cloud coverage was about 4/10ths, and visibility was extremely poor. C-1 Pilot of the lead A/C in the lead squadron was inoperative and it was necessary to make a manual run. The Group was about 1,000 feet above briefed altitude because of contrails; and the 500 lb RDX bombs were dropped at 1351 from 27,000 feet.

Bomb results of lead squadron were fair; no photos available from the low squadron.

The Group rallied without incident. Return route was flown on course, but the Group began to let down to 22,000 feet immediately after the first turn after the turn off the target. From Control Point #3, let-down was accomplished approximately as briefed. Just before reaching England, a diversion message was received and the Group was instructed to proceed to Wellesbourne-Montford. The formation landed without incident.

Mission #189

GELSENKIRCHEN

19 February 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at 18,000 feet as briefed. Assembly was difficult because of contrails.

Upon leaving the Buncher, the Group began to climb to 21,000 feet to get above the contrails. Course was flown approximately as briefed. Combat Wing assembly was accomplished without incident.

Control Point #1 was reached on course, one minute early, but in proper position in Division formation. Along the Division Assembly Line, Groups were echeloned in order to avoid contrails from A/C of the groups ahead.

The enemy coast was crossed one minute early, on course. Track to the I.P. was flown as briefed. The I.P. was crossed on course.

The weather scouting force had informed the Group Leader that the target area was covered and that it would be necessary to bomb by instruments. Bombing was done in Group formation, with the lead squadron performing the sighting operation. The run was GH, with a visual assist. Cloud coverage was 10/10ths until five to ten seconds before the BRL when the Bombardier, for a short interval, was able to identify the MPI through a patch in the clouds. No interference was encountered on the bomb run. C-1 Pilot functioned satisfactorily. The low squadron experienced some difficulty in dropping on the lead squadron when the smoke markers of the lead squadron had failed to go off, but the Bombardier was able to release his bombs successfully. The mixed load of 500 pound GP's and RDX were dropped at 1415 from 26,000 feet.

[REDACTED]

Bomb results were reported to be good.

After bombing, the formation executed the briefed turn off the target and proceeded on the return route. Just before recrossing the I.P., the group executed a 360 degree turn in order to avoid shuffling with the 379th group which had made a 180 degree turn in order to make a second run on the target. The group let down to 2,000 feet below briefed altitude before reaching Control Point #3, in order to avoid contrails. A normal let-down was begun over the North Sea. The group entered England at Cromer, let down by instruments over Glatton and landed without difficulty.

Mission #190

NUREMBERG

20 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude plus 6,500 feet, in order to avoid contrails and clouds.

Point "C" was cut short in order to assemble in Wing formation. Track over England was flown on course but above briefed altitude because of contrails and clouds.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. Division Assembly Line was flown to the left of the briefed route in Division column.

Shortly after Control Point #2, the formation came upon clouds, haze and contrails. The low squadron became separated from the group and flew the route to the I.P. alongside of the 401st Group. In the vicinity of Control Point #3, a squadron from the 303rd Group which had also become separated because of weather conditions joined the lead and high squadrons of the 457th Group. Slight deviations in course were necessary in order to remain in Division formation. The Group came across the I.P. on course.

Cloud coverage at the target area was 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb in group formation, with the 303rd squadron taking the position of our low squadron. Our low squadron made an individual run on the target, dropping its 250 lb GP's at 1234 from 24,600 feet. Bombing by lead and low leads was done by means of PFF equipment. C-1 Pilot functioned normally on both lead A/C and no other difficulties were encountered.

Bomb results were unobserved due to cloud coverage.

The low squadron joined a group which the leader was unable to identify, but believed to be the 303rd Group. The other two squadrons, together with the Molesworth squadron, flew in group formation behind the 401st Group. Return route was flown approximately as briefed. A normal let-down was made and the group landed without incident.

[REDACTED]

Mission #191

NUREMBERG

21 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 8,500 feet as briefed.

The route over England was not flown as briefed. The group reached Wisbech two minutes late and it was necessary to "cut off" Splasher #6 and proceed directly to Felixstowe in order to make up time. The group was not assembled in Wing formation.

Felixstowe was reached on time, on course, but the group was not in proper position. "Swordfish Baker" and "Swordfish Charlie" were three and four minutes late and the 457th Group came in formation behind "Swordfish Able." Rather than disrupt the Division formation along the Division Assembly Line, the group leader made the decision to stay where he was. The Division Assembly Line was flown to the left of course, in order to remain in Division column.

Over the continent, it became necessary to do considerable "S'ing" in order to stay in Division formation. The route was flown approximately as briefed. The I.P. was reached on course but 24 minutes late because of the time lost by "S'ing" and also because winds were not as briefed.

Cloud coverage at the target area was 10/10ths, and bombing was done in group formation, with all three squadrons releasing their bombs on the smoke markers of the PFF lead A/C. C-1 Pilot functioned normally and no difficulties were encountered. The 500 lb GP's and IB's were dropped at 1158 from 26,700 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to 10/10ths cloud coverage.

After bombing, the group rejoined the Division column and proceeded on the return route. Deviations to the right and left of course were made in order to remain in Division formation. The route was uneventful. A normal let-down was made and the group returned to base without incident.

Mission #192

SALZWEDEL

22 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 10,000 feet as briefed. The Group was assembled and left the Buncher three minutes early.

The formation swung wide of Point "C", in order to lose time. The Group assembled with the Combat Wing without difficulty and followed in Wing formation to Control Point #1. Some difficulty was encountered with B-24's flying across the assembly route. Formation went to briefed altitude plus 1,000 feet to avoid interference.

[REDACTED]

Control Point #1 was reached on course and one minute early. The Group was 1,000 feet above briefed altitude but in proper position in Wing and Division formation. Division Assembly Line was flown approximately as briefed.

Route over the continent was flown approximately as briefed and in Division formation. Immediately prior to reaching the I.P., the 351st Group cut to the right, overshooting the I.P., forcing the 457th to swing a little left of the I.P.

The Group split up into squadrons in order to begin a visual run on the primary target. The bomb run was not flown on course. The squadrons were left of course because the 351st Group, after having overshoot the I.P., came back on course and was parallel and to the right of the Group. As a result, it was impossible to bomb the primary target on this run. However, the low squadron attacked a secondary target, (a bridge near Dannenberg) because of the interference on the bomb run mentioned above. Secondary was selected per Field Order, 1st Air Division #637. Aiming point selected was as indicated on photos sent to O.R.S. Selected aiming point was shown to the Group Commander before Bombardier saw the strike photos. The lead and high squadrons executed a 180 degree turn, came back over the primary but couldn't bomb because the run was too short to permit the Bombardier to synchronise properly. A second 180 degree turn was executed and an I.P. selected. The 500 lb GP's were released by both lead and high squadrons on this run at 1245 from 12,000 feet. Clouds were nil. Some interference with sighting was caused by ground haze. MPI was identified by the lead about one minute before the BRL and by the high about seven miles from the target. No other difficulties were encountered.

Bombing results were generally good.

After bombing, Group rally was accomplished with little difficulty. The Group Leader, after having lost time because of the 180 degree turns over the target, flew an interception course intending to rejoin the wing, and necessarily flew considerably left of course. Wing rally was accomplished at 1314 hours. Remainder of route was uneventful, except before reaching Control Point #3 it was necessary to climb to 21,000 feet in order to get above clouds. After re-crossing the Dutch coast, a normal let-down was begun through a patch in the overcast. The English coast was crossed at Cromer, and the Group proceeded to base without further incident.

Mission #193

ELLINGEN

23 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude plus 3,000 feet because of clouds. Some difficulty was encountered from weather conditions which hindered assembly. The Group assembled between two cloud layers and was late leaving the Buncher because the formation was incomplete.

The route over England was not flown as briefed. The Group headed directly for Control Point #1, in order to make up time. On the route, the Group fell in behind the 351st Group, in Wing formation. The formation was at 15,000 feet upon leaving the Buncher and remained at this altitude throughout the course.

[REDACTED]

Control Point #1 was reached on course and  $\frac{1}{2}$  minute early. The Group was in proper position in Division column, and flew the Division Assembly Line as briefed.

The route to the I.P. was uneventful. Course was flown approximately as briefed. Just before reaching the I.P., word was received from the weather scouting force that the target area had 10/10ths cloud cover. A blind run on the primary was contemplated, but then the scouting force informed the Group Leader that targets assigned to the 3rd Division were open. The I.P. was crossed on course and then the Group proceeded southwest of the briefed course in search of secondary and last resort targets in the 3rd Division area. Let-down below the undercast was accomplished previous to the I.P.

Bombing was done visually, in squadron formation. The lead and low squadrons bombed the village of Ellingen at 1225 from 16,300 feet. The aiming point for the lead squadron was the autobahn in the center of the town. The low squadron synchronized on the railroad north of the city. C-1 Pilot functioned normally for the lead squadron, but the low had to make a manual run. The high squadron, not knowing the bombing altitude (as the lead squadron was changing altitudes) was not set up in time to attack Ellingen, so continued on to the village of Ottingen. Aiming point was the railroad short of the center of the city. C-1 Pilot functioned normally. Weather conditions were CAVU for all squadrons. No other difficulties were encountered.

Bomb results were observed to be good for all squadrons.

After bombing, Group rally was accomplished without difficulty. The formation came back on the briefed route. After crossing Control Point #4, the Group let down from bombing altitude of 16,000 feet to 8,500 feet. It was necessary to go back to 10,000 feet in the vicinity of the Belgian Coast to avoid weather. The Group entered England at 10,000 feet, then attempted to let down to 6,000 feet as advised but found this impossible. An instrument let-down was made and aircraft returned to base.

Mission #194

HARBURG

24 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 8,500 feet as briefed.

The route over England was flown approximately as briefed. The Group assembled in Wing formation without difficulty and followed in trail to Control Point #1.

Control Point #1 was reached on course but one minute early. The Group was in proper position in Division column and flew the Division Assembly Line as briefed.

The route to the I.P. was uneventful and was flown approximately as briefed.

██████████

The Division Leader overshot Control Point #3 and the Group followed in trail in order to remain in Division column. The Group was slightly left of course from Control Point #3 until the I.P.

The I.P. was crossed on course. Cloud coverage was 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb by means of PFF equipment. Bombing was done in Group formation, with the lead squadron performing the instrument sighting. C-1 Pilot functioned normally and no difficulties were encountered. The 500 lb GP's were dropped at 1233 from 26,500 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to 10/10ths cloud coverage.

After bombing, the Group rallied with the Division without difficulty. The Division Leader swung wide of course on the first turn after the turn off the target and the Group followed in trail. Route was flown slightly to the left of course until the formation recrossed Control Point #3 and came back on the briefed track. The remainder of the route was flown approximately as briefed. A normal let-down was made and the formation landed without incident.

Mission #195

MUNICH

25 February 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude minus 2,500 feet, because of weather conditions.

The Group was below briefed altitude throughout the route over England because of weather. Deviations to left and right of course were necessary in order to make Control Point #1 on time. Combat Wing, or assembly of the "B" Force was not completed until Control Point #1 because "Woodcraft Charlie" had climbed above our altitude.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. Division Assembly Line was flown as briefed.

Route over the continent was uneventful. Minor deviations in course were necessary in order to remain in formation. The I.P. was reached on course.

A visual run was made on the primary target, with each squadron lead A/C performing its own sighting operation. Cloud coverage was nil with good visibility. The lead squadron identified the MPI about twenty miles from the BRL. Bombs hung up in the lead A/C, finally releasing four or five seconds after the salvo switch was thrown. The low squadron Bombardier identified the MPI seven miles from the target. A manual run was necessary as the C-1 Pilot was inoperative. The high squadron identified the MPI about two minutes before the BRL, but experienced some difficulty when the Pilot was hit by AAGF and the ship veered sharply just before "bombs away." The run was made on AFCE by both the lead and high squadrons. All squadrons were hindered in the sighting operation by AAGF. The mixed load of 500 lb GP's and IB's were dropped at 1127 from 25,000 feet.

[REDACTED]

Bombing results were observed to be very good.

Route from the target was flown approximately as briefed until reaching the vicinity of the Belgian border where the Group deviated to the right of course in order to let down below the cloud deck. The remainder of the route over the continent was flown approximately as briefed. Over the Channel, the Group came upon poor weather conditions, making it necessary for it to break up and return to base individually.

Mission #196

BERLIN

26 February 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at 11,000 feet as briefed.

Course over England was flown as briefed. The Group assembled in Wing formation without difficulty.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. Division assembly line was flown approximately as briefed.

On the route to the I.P. it was necessary for the Group to do considerable "S"ing and to execute numerous double drifts in order to remain behind the preceding Group. The route to the I.P. was flown approximately as briefed. The formation was behind schedule because the Division as a whole was late.

The turn was made at the I.P. as briefed. Cloud coverage at the target was 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb in Group formation by means of PFF equipment. The lead squadron's AFCE did not function normally and the run was made manually. The mixed load of GP's and IB's were dropped at 1203 $\frac{1}{2}$  from 25,200 feet.

Results of bombing were unobserved due to cloud coverage.

After the turn off the target, the formation ran into strong head winds which continued throughout the course. Deviations to the south of course were made in order to stay in Division formation. A normal let-down was made and after entering England at Cromer the Group proceeded directly to Base because they were low on gasoline.

Mission #197

LEIPZIG

27 February 1945

Assembly was at briefed altitude plus 2,000 feet because of clouds.

The route over England was flown above briefed altitude but on time, on course. The Wing assembled without difficulty.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, but the Group was not in proper position. Cowboy Charlie was approximately three minutes late and the Group assembled its position behind the 379th Group. Division Assembly Line was flown approximately as briefed.

SECRET

The route to the I.P. was uneventful and was flown approximately as briefed except that the Group remained behind the 379th Group instead of the 384th Group. The I.P. was crossed on course.

Cloud coverage was 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb the secondary target by PFF equipment in Group formation. The Group was about 1500 feet above briefed altitude because the Group, after having taken over the position of the 384th, found it necessary in order to maintain staggered altitudes in Division formation. The 500 lb GP's were dropped at 1358 from 26,500 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to clouds.

After bombing, the Group followed the Division leader in Division formation. The route was without incident and no difficulties were encountered. A normal let-down was begun after recrossing friendly lines. Over the channel, the Group let down through the patches in the clouds, entered England at Felixstowe, and returned to base without further difficulty.

Mission #198

SCEST

28 February 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at 9,000 feet as briefed. No difficulty was encountered.

The Group assembled in Wing formation without incident. The route was flown on course except that the formation was forced to cut off point "E" (Lavenham), in order to arrive at Control Point #1 on time.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. Division Assembly line was flown slightly left of the briefed course in order to stay in Division column.

The route over the continent until just before the I.P. was flown approximately as briefed. Deviations to the left of course were necessary in order to remain in Division formation. At the point before the I.P., GH equipment of the lead squadron was not functioning properly and it was necessary to turn the lead over to the high squadron GH A/C. The formation deviated slightly to the right of the briefed route at the I.P. in order to get proper interval behind the preceding group.

Cloud coverage was 10/10ths, and a GH run was made on the primary target, with all squadrons in Group formation. AFCE functioned normally for all squadron leads. The mixed load of GP's and IB's were dropped at 1510 from 24,800 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to clouds.

After bombing, the Group proceeded on the return route. Deviations to the left and right of course were made in order to stay in Division formation. A normal let-down was made and the Group returned to base without further incident.

SECRET

Mission #199

GOPPINGEN

1 March 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude, plus 3,000 feet, in order to avoid weather conditions and clouds.

The Group assembled in Wing formation without difficulty. The entire Wing formation was early and it was necessary to do a considerable amount of "S'ing" and to execute numerous double-drifts in order to lose time.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and in proper position in Division formation. The Division Assembly line was flown to the right of course, in order to remain in Division formation.

Flight to the I.P. was flown approximately as briefed. Deviations to the right of course were necessary in order to remain in Division formation. Just before the I.P., some difficulty was encountered when the Group shuffled with a group of the 3rd Division. The Group reassembled and crossed the I.P. on course.

Cloud coverage was 8/10ths to 10/10ths and it was necessary to make a GH run on the primary target in Group formation. C-1 Pilot functioned normally and no difficulties were encountered, the mixed load of 500 lb GP's and IB's being dropped at 1427½ from 20,400 feet.

Bomb results were unobserved due to cloud coverage.

The return route was flown approximately as briefed. Deviations to the right of course were made in order to remain in Division column. A normal let-down was made and the Group returned to base without further incident.

Mission #200

CHESNITZ

2 March 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude. No difficulties were encountered.

The Group assembled in Wing formation without difficulty.

Control Point #1 was reached one minute early, on course, and in proper position in Division formation.

Before getting to Control Point #2, a double-drift was made by the Group in order to allow "Swordfish Charlie" to get into proper position. The route over the continent was flown as briefed.

The Group Leader contacted the Weather Ship and decided to bomb the secondary target. Cloud coverage was 8/10ths to 10/10ths, and a PFF run was made on the secondary target, with all squadrons in Group formation. C-1 Pilot operated normally on the low and high squadrons, but it was necessary for the lead squadron to make a manual run. The mixed load of 500 and 250 lb GP's were dropped at 1022½ from 25,000 feet.

Results of bombing were obscured by clouds.

After bombing, the Group rejoined Division formation and came back out at 23,000 feet as briefed. At Control Point #3 the Group was 33 minutes early. Deviations to the right of course were made in order to stay in Division formation. A normal let-down was made, and the Group returned to base without incident. Two ships landed away from base in order to refuel but these ships returned to base yesterday evening.

Mission #201

CHEMnitz

3 March 1945

Assembly was on the Glatton Buncher at briefed altitude.

The route over England was flown as briefed in Wing formation, except that "Swordfish Baker" said they would be 1½ minutes late, and the 457th Group had to lose this time in order to have "Swordfish Baker" come into proper position.

Control Point #1 was not reached on time on account of having to wait for "Swordfish Baker." Flew the Division Assembly Line as briefed, except that the Division Leader started going south of course and the 457th followed in trail. Contacted the Division Leader to get back on course. Division Leader got back on course at the second turn before the I.P.

Before the I.P. "Buckeye Blue" said that weather was 5/10ths to 10/10ths and could not pinpoint the primary but Division Leader decided to bomb the primary, visually, if possible. We were second in Division formation at this time, as "Swordfish Baker" had left the Division Assembly Line.

Went into the target on a visual run, in squadron formation, but a visual run could not be made. Turned off short of the target so as to establish an I.P. for the secondary. The Group got back into Group formation and bombed the secondary PFF target (Chemnitz). C-1 Pilot functioned normally for all squadrons, and no difficulties were encountered. The 500 lb GP's were dropped at 1112½ from 25,200 feet.

Only partial bomb results were observed, which were fair.

The return route was flown as briefed except for deviations to the left and right of course in order to follow in Division formation. On the route over England, the Group went to the left of briefed route in order to conserve gasoline. A normal let-down was made and the Group returned to base without further incident.

Mission #202

CHEMnitz

5 March 1945

Aircraft took off and flew to the assembly area without difficulty. The Group assembled on Buncher C-11 at 21,000 feet. Some difficulty was encountered with assembly because of thick haze. The Buncher was not operating, and the Group assembled south of course.

[REDACTED]

On the assembly course, navigational aids were not operating normally. The PFF equipment was erratic and the GEE was jammed. As a result, the Group was south of the briefed course. Course was altered in order to intercept the Division formation before reaching Control Point #1. Control Point #1 was reached two minutes early and about five miles south of course. Position of the Group with respect to the Division formation was not able to be determined because undercast, combined with thick haze and dense contrails, limited visibility and prevented the Group from maintaining visual contact with the rest of the Division. It is believed that this Group was six miles ahead of "Woodcraft Able" Leader.

Route to the target was flown at distances varying from five to ten miles south of course because of different weather conditions and poor navigational aids. "Duckeye" advised the Group Leader that there was no possibility of a visual run, and it was decided to make a PFF run on the secondary target.

An I.P. was selected for a run on the secondary target. Cloud coverage was 10/10ths and it was necessary to bomb the secondary target by means of PFF equipment, in Group formation. An extremely short run was made because PFF equipment was weak and the target was not able to be identified until the Group was within fourteen miles of it. The 500 lb GP's were dropped at 1006 from 27,800 feet.

No results of bombing were observed because of 10/10ths clouds.

Course was flown approximately as briefed until the vicinity of the Control Point #3, where the Group deviated about forty miles south of course because of the failure of navigational aids. The formation was about one hour ahead of schedule because they had proceeded directly to the secondary without attempting a run on the primary target and had consequently cut off much of the briefed route. A normal let-down was made and the Group returned to base without further incident. The Group was not in Division formation because of the difficult weather conditions.

Mission #203

SIEGEN

7 March 1945

Assembled at Kings Cliffe at briefed altitude, plus 1,000 feet (12,000') because of clouds.

The route over England was flown as briefed. Combat Wing assembly was accomplished without incident. No difficulties were encountered.

Control Point #1 was reached on time, on course, and at proper altitude. The Group joined the Division formation and proceeded along the Division Assembly Line. The Group, following the Division Leader, went south of course in order to avoid clouds and contrails.

Upon crossing the Dutch coast, the group was still south of course, following the Division Leader. As the Group approached the last turn before the I.P., the GH equipment of the lead squadron became inoperative and the lead was turned over to the low squadron instead of the high squadron leader because communications between the lead squadron lead and high squadron lead had failed.

[REDACTED]

A GH run was begun on the primary target, but the low squadron lead A/C's GH equipment became inoperative. The Group then proceeded to the secondary target in order to bomb by means of PFF equipment. The lead and low squadrons released their 500 lb GP's at 1113 from 25,400 feet without incident, but the high squadron lead failed to see the smoke markers and "bombs away" and did not release his bombs. The entire high squadron did not release their bombs. Cloud coverage was 10/10ths at the target. C-1 Pilot functioned normally for the lead squadron A/C, but the low squadron lead A/C had to make a manual run.

Bomb results were unobserved due to clouds.

After bombing, the Division formation was widely scattered because 360 degree turns were being made by other groups in order to make a second run on the target. The 457th Group assumed a position at the head of the Division column and proceeded on the return route. Approximately twenty miles from friendly lines, communications between the lead and high squadrons were again established and the Air Commander was informed that the high squadron did not release their bombs. High squadron lead was instructed to return bombs to base. Return route was flown approximately as briefed. Slight deviations in course were necessary in order to avoid weather. The Group flew the return route without incident and returned to base where an instrument let-down was made on the Glatton Buncher.

Mission #204

BOTTROP

8 March 1945

Assembled on the Glatton Buncher at 15,000 feet, as briefed.

After leaving the Glatton Buncher, the Group went left of course in order to get in Wing formation behind Polebrook. Deviations to the left of course, after joining the Wing, were necessary in order to remain in Wing formation.

The Group arrived at Control Point #1 on course and one minute late, but in proper position in Division formation and at proper interval. Division Assembly line was flown on course.

Course to the target was flown approximately as briefed. No difficulties were encountered. The I.P. was reached on course but slightly behind schedule, because winds were other than briefed.

Cloud coverage at the primary target was 10/10ths. A GH run was made on this target, in Group formation, with the lead squadron performing the sight-ing operation. C-1 Pilot functioned normally. The mixed load of 500 lb bombs were dropped at 1428½ from 25,200 feet.

[REDACTED]

Bomb results were unobserved due to clouds.

After bombing, the Group proceeded on the return route in trail of the 351st Group. The formation was about five to ten miles left of course but succeeded in coming back on course about fifteen minutes after the target. At this point, let-down by the 351st Group was at such a rapid rate that our Group was unable to keep up with them. Shortly after this, the 457th Group, being at a higher altitude, "overran" the 351st Group formation. The remainder of the route was flown approximately as briefed, except that the Group was not in proper position in Division formation. A normal let-down was made through the patches in the clouds over England and the formation landed without incident.

The following letter, Supreme Headquarters, AEF, dd 6 Mar 45, is quoted:

"I have just returned from a visit in the Julich, Duren, Munchen-Gladbach area.

"As the Allied Armies advance into the former industrialized area of the Rhineland, they are everywhere confronted with striking evidence of the effectiveness of the bombing campaigns carried on for years by Bomber Command, and, since 1942, by the 8th Air Force. City after city has been systematically shattered. Against these our artillery is often used to blast out pill boxes, snipers and hidden tanks, but it could scarcely add to the completeness of the material destruction. Here and there, possibly because of their relative unimportance as industrial centers, certain towns have been largely spared. These present a remarkable contrast to the ruins of Aschen, Julich, Duren, Cologne and the other Rhineland cities that have been targeted by our big bombers day after day and night after night. The effect on the war economy of Germany has obviously been tremendous; a fact that advancing troops are quick to appreciate and which unfailingly reminds them of the heroic work of their comrades in Bomber Command and in the United States Air Forces.

"I should like for all units to know that the sacrifices they have made are today facilitating success on all fronts.

Dwight D. Eisenhower"

RECREATION AND WELFARE

1. Special Services.

The Group celebrated the completion of 200 missions with a party for all personnel on 17 March. The program was divided into three phases. The first phase took place in all the mess halls where a special meal was served. Phase number two was held in hangar No. 1 where free beer was dispensed; "The Divisionaires" gave forth with one hour of concert music; and the presenting of the USO show "Flying High" concluded the activities in the hangar. Approximately 2,000 persons enjoyed the affair at the hangar. Phase number three included dances at the Officers Club, NCO Club and Aero Club. "The Flying Yanks" held the fort at the Officers Club, "Divisionaires" at the NCO Club and the "Fireballs" at the Aero Club.

The weekly dances at the Aero club were held on March 2, 9, 17, 23, and 31. The Officers Club dance was held 17 March. The NCO Club enjoyed their monthly dance on 17 March.

During the month basketball reigned. The high light was the performance of the Officers basketball team on the night of 22 March when they defeated the Officers team from 93rd Bomb Group. The 93rd Group claimed the Eighth Air Force championship with 28 straight victories that was until our officers decided that the title should rest with us. The Station Basketball League was completed on 22 March with 748th winning the title. In the Station Single Elimination Tournament 748th continued their winning ways by defeating 1212th QM in the final game. The Glutton Invitational was held during the week of 25 March with the following stations entering enlisted men and officer teams: stations 102, 106, 128 and 130. In the EM section station 106 won the title while in the officers division our officers won top honors. Plans are being set up for the coming softball season. Two new softball diamonds have been laid out and should see plenty of action soon.

With all sign posts pointing toward V-E Day, the Information-Education machine shifted into high gear the last week of March. An Educational Advisory Council was formed to aid in the administration of the program. This Council consists of the Commanding Officer, (or his representative), the Information-Education Officer, an Instructor-Training Officer, Educational Adviseement Officer, On-the-Job Training Officer, Enlisted Librarian and Enlisted Records Clerk. An educational questionnaire has been mimeographed for early distribution to all personnel. This questionnaire lists 33 subjects in 5 educational fields. USAFI enrollments continue, but dropped off to eight. Attendance at the Army Talks averaged over 1700 per week for the month. One hundred educational and technical books were received, a Librarian joined the department. Cataloguing of books was begun and opening of the Library was definitely set for 1 April.

The Aero Club continues to play its important role in the life of the dross. The hobby shop is now fully equipped serving approximately 100 men each week. The stage has been dressed up with new red velvet front curtains, gray back drops, foot lights and overhead lights. The men have enjoyed several guest speakers which usually concluded the session with open discussion. The discussions led by S-2 Officers continue to draw a goodly crowd. As in the past, the library offered a pleasant refuge for those wishing to read, write and play quiet games.

Theatre seats have been installed in the Station Theatre increasing the seating capacity as well as improving the appearance. A new beaded screen has been obtained and will be installed in the near future.

2. American Red Cross

Quizzes seem to have taken an outstanding spot on our calendar this month. For the Officer versus G.I. quiz we had a packed and overflowing house. There were seven officers and seven enlisted men. Pvt. Harvey Pollock acted as MC, and he conducted the quiz on the order of Information Please; however, when none of the experts could answer the question, he threw it out to the audience and awarded snack bar tickets to the man who could answer it. Pollock has a quick wit, and he kept things quite lively. To everyone's delight - well almost everyone's - the GI's won by a score of 287 over the officers 246.

Sgt. Snyder, who was formerly the pianist with Ted Fiorita's orchestra, conducted a very clever musical quiz for us. Everyone was given a piece of paper and a pencil. The names of the numbers Snyder played formed questions and answers. Some of them were quite hard, and it was amazing how many of the boys knew nearly all of them. The winner, Sgt. Klimoski, was given a carton of cigarettes. To top it off, Klimoski turned out to be a professional accordionist, so we put him to work at once.

We celebrated our two hundredth mission this month, and it was a bang-up affair. The Aero Club's share of the festivities was a dance. We hung white parachutes from the ceiling and a big silver ball extended from the center one. B-17's cut out of silver paper and pasted on red tissue paper formed a border on the walls all around the room. The parachutes made such a hit that they have become a permanent part of our decorations. The food was set up on tables in the lounge and served buffet style.

200 MISSIONS!

The following story and pictures were released for publication upon completion of 200 missions by the Group on 2 March 1945. Target hit was Chemnitz, Germany.

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, ENGLAND, - The 457th Flying Fortress Bombardment Group, commanded by Colonel Harris E. Rogner of Masury, Ohio, has completed its 200th mission.

Led by Captain Edward Dozier of Bessemer, Alabama, as Air Commander, the formation of Forts returned to the base and received an enthusiastic welcome home.

Upon returning from their 200th mission, the air crews were greeted by the Chief of Staff of the 1st Air Division, Brigadier General Bartlett Beaman and the Station Commander and his Staff.

One of the youngest groups in the 1st Air Division, Eighth Air Force, the Fireball group has set up a distinguished record by leading the Eighth Air Force in bombing results during the last five months of 1944.

Beginning operational just over a year ago, the group, in succeeding months, participated in many notable assaults on the Nazi war machine. Among these were the mission to bomb industrial plants in Gdynia, the longest trip ever taken by the Eighth Air Force, for which the group received a special commendation from the commanding general, 1st Air Division. In the huge operation in cooperation and coordination with the invasion assault on 'D' Day, this group led the entire Eighth Air Force. The high degree of accuracy in high altitude bombing achieved by Colonel Rogner's group was exemplified recently in a mission to destroy the Maximiliansau Bridge on the Rhine River. Releasing its bombs from 25,000 feet, the group hit the MPI and attained a direct hit on this bridge that knocked it out completely. Once more it had lived up to its motto of "Fait Accompli" -- mission accomplished!

The importance of the strategical bombing, in which the 457th played a vital part, has been proved beyond doubt by the results obtained and by their relationship to the activities of the ground forces. The destruction of vital supplies at their source together with the elimination of rail facilities and communications by the Fireball outfit has been instrumental in enabling the Allies to defeat the German Armies wherever they have been engaged.

Through the splendid teamwork and efforts of the ground and combat crews, the 457th Bombardment Group has proved itself a highly efficient and smooth running organization. The successful maintenance of these mighty Fortresses is due to the tireless efforts and skill of the mechanics, who labor day and night to keep the planes in the perfect condition necessary for combat operations.

The Second General Officer to visit this station during the month of March was Brigadier General John S. Allard, Reserve Chief of Staff, 8AF. The purpose of the General's short stay here was to observe briefing and interrogating procedures of the Group. General Allard arrived in time to witness the early morning briefing of the mission to Siegen, Germany on 7 March 1945, and the subsequent interrogation of the returning crews.

Pictured below are General Allard and a representative of Curtiss-Wright Aviation Corporation as they appeared at the Briefing.

[REDACTED]

General Allard, who is 48 years old, served with Lt. Gen. Doolittle during the first World War, when they both were combat instructors with the Aviation Section, Signal Corps, at Romo Field, San Diego, California.

In civilian life he was a vice-president of the Curtiss-Wright Aviation Corporation. He re-entered the Army as a Colonel in 1942 and came overseas with General Doolittle just prior to the invasion of North Africa. He served as Assistant Chief of Staff, 12th Air Force and later as Chief of Staff, 12th Bomber Command, during which time he was decorated with the Legion of Merit.

In 1944 he came to England as Deputy Chief of Staff, Eighth Air Force and some time later was promoted to Brigadier General.

Edwin R. Roberts of Spokane, Washington has been promoted to the rank of Major, it was recently announced by the commanding general, Eighth Air Force.

One of the key officers of the 457th Bombardment Group, Major Roberts is the commanding officer's direct representative in all matters pertaining to combat intelligence. It is his duty to supervise the briefing of lead teams before they take off to bomb military and industrial targets inside the Reich, and to direct a training program for all combat personnel in matters pertaining to enemy disposition, strength and probable tactics.

As a staff officer with this group, Major Roberts has contributed materially to the success of its assaults on the German war machine.

An alumnus of Oak Cliff High School, Dallas, Texas, he later attended the Texas University, Austin, Texas, majoring in law, and graduated with the class of 1939. Following graduation, he was associated with the Employers Casualty Company of Dallas, in the capacity of claims and legal adviser until he entered the Army Air Forces in 1941.

Major Leon Stann, squadron commander in the 457th Bombardment Group, was decorated with the Silver Star by Brigadier General Julius K. Lacey at the direction of the commanding general, Eighth Air Force.

Flying as an air commander, Major Stann has shown, on many occasions, outstanding leadership in operations to bomb military and industrial targets in the Nazi Reich. He has led the group time and time again, constantly pounding at sources of supply, communications and rail facilities in the path of the ground forces.

The award came for his gallantry on one of the last missions of 1944. As his formation turned into the bomb run, another group crossed the path and threatened to disrupt the formation but with great skill, Major Stann rallied his planes into position and the run continued over the target to bomb with excellent results. Then, all hell broke loose as German anti-aircraft batteries opened fire. They scored many direct hits and his plane suffered much damage - oxygen system destroyed, control cables severed - a large fire broke out between the cockpit and the radio room. Ordering the crew to stand by for orders to bail out, he fought desperately and managed to extinguish the blaze but only after severely burning his hands. Then, because the pilot had been wounded, he took over the controls and headed the plane for England. While crossing the battle line, enemy flak batteries again blasted away at the lone plane and inflicted more damage. In spite of all, Major Stann, by superior airmanship and indomitable courage, guided the plane to a safe landing at its base in England.

[REDACTED]

He has participated in missions to bomb targets in and around Berlin, Merseburg, Augsburg and Dessau.

In addition to the Silver Star, he has thus far in his combat career been awarded the Air Medal and four Oak Leaf Clusters.

An alumnus of the Senior High School, Perth Amboy, Major Stann enlisted in the Coast Artillery and remained for a period of two and one-half years before entering the United States Military Academy at West Point. He graduated with the Class of 1942.

Mr. and Mrs. Stann have another son, Technical Sergeant Frank Stann, serving with the Army Air Forces in Trinidad.

Flyers come and flyers go but Major Edward B. Dozier (then Captain), Air Commander, Bessemer, Alabama, Captain Alexis F. Unoff, Lead Navigator, Seattle, Washington, Captain Kenneth B. Taylor, Lead Bombardier, Detroit, Michigan, and 1st Lt. Harry G. Vaal, Lead Bombardier, Newport, Kentucky, who participated in the first mission of the Group, were on the lead ship when it returned to the base from the 200th Mission. They have all played a highly important part in making the "Fireball" Group a crack outfit of Eighth Air Force.

Captain Peter Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hoffman, of 313 Floyd Street, Toledo, Ohio, serving here as group personnel officer with the 457th Bomb Group of the Eighth Air Force, has recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy.

The citation accompanying the award read, in part: "Assigned to this group after it has arrived in this country, Captain Hoffman - although unfamiliar with the ability of any of his subordinates - organized and set up the entire personnel service, and developed it to a high degree of operational efficiency in a limited period of time. He accomplished his various duties in a superior manner throughout one year of operations under combat conditions. The unceasing efforts, devotion to duty and high degree of technical skill displayed by this officer, reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

An alumnus of Scott High School, Capt. Hoffman attended the University of Toledo, graduating in the class of 1941. During his undergraduate days he was art editor of the university's annual 'Block House', and was cartoonist on the staff of 'Campus Collegian'. He is a member of ABE and Kappa Iota Chi. Following his graduation, he was associated with the Tiedtke's Advertising Art Department, Toledo, until he entered the Army Air Forces in 1941.

On the recent Berlin assault, our formation was on the bomb run and just after the bombs away, while employing evasive action to avoid the dense barrage of flak, an escort of P-51's chased a formation of Me-262's poised for attack. Three forts, off to the side, were resuming their place in the formation when another group of Me-262's came in for a dead level attack out of the thick contrails. One was intercepted by a lone P-51 and shot out of the sky. The other three singled out forts for the kill. Ball turret gunner S/Sgt. Ralph S. Ingraham, 8 State Street Place, Augusta, Maine, and tail gunner S/Sgt. Kenneth L. Haseltine, Dexter, Maine started firing at a range of 300 yards and kept pumping shells until the fighter passed out of sight of their positions. At about 200 yards, all the armament of the jet propelled fighter opened up and shot away about 10 feet of the left wing directly behind the inboard engine, crippling the engine and puncturing the fuel tank. It shot away the right rudder cable and put 60 holes in the radio room. Oxygen system and fuel feed lines were destroyed. In spite of the crippled condition of the plane, 1st Lt. Craig P. Greason, 61 Whitehall Boulevard, Garden City, N.Y. and son of Col. Samuel Greason, GSC, employing all the skill and airmanship at his command, managed to keep the plane airborne and trailing the formation. Greason arrived at the base and brought the plane in for a perfect landing without injury to any of the crew.

QUOTES---

Captain Thomas A. Goff, Navigator, of Minonk, Illinois--

"It is the first time I was ever attacked by fighters right over the target."

Captain Franklin D. Rollins, Air Commander, Hartford, Conn.--

"We got everything over Berlin today, Flak, Fighters, and Jets. Every place we looked there were fighters and flak."

"One group of Me-262's sucked our escort away and then another group attacked us out of the contrails."

Sgt. William Bodyle, Left Waist Gunner, Bayonne, N.J.--

"A piece of flak came through the right waist, hit an instrument and knocked me down. When I came to and found the piece, there were my initials 'W.B.' faintly marked on it."

In a beautiful 16th Century parish church on this base, Captain James G. France of Kent, Ohio, and Miss Ethelnore Secord of Elm Grove, Wisconsin were recently married by Canon St. John Wayne, honorary Chaplain of the British and American Armies.

The bride was attended by Miss Rachael Paterson, of Knoxville, Tennessee, and 1st Lt. Delmar G. Spatz of Rothschild, Wisconsin was the best man.

Major Edwin R. Roberts gave the bride away, while Mrs. Robert Johnson of Claygate, England acted as mistress of ceremonies, arranging the details of decorating, narcissus and cherry blossoms being used throughout the church.

Staff Sergeant Charles Snyder of Hutchinson, Kansas played a continuous program of appropriate music on the organ.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Red Cross Aero Club for friends of the bride and groom.

Colonel Harris E. Rogner's "Fireballs" of the 457th Bombardment Group, 1st Division champs, scorched the 2nd Division team of Robinson's "Raiders" to cop the Eighth Air Force basketball championship in the title bout played 22 March.

Robinson's Raiders were defending a record of 28 games won and the Fireballs, theirs of 17 straight wins. At the half way mark the score was 25 to 23 in favor of the Fireballs. Final score was 51 to 46.

Hannon was the star "Fireball", scoring 27 points.

Appearing in the photo are from left to right in the back row: 2nd Lt. Melvin Stoner, Capt. Gerald Galligan, Colonel Harris E. Rogner, Major Leonard Wheeler, presenting 1st Division Trophy, Capt. George Harf, Capt. Frank J. Rogers, Coach, 1st Lt. James Hannon.

El Lobo (the Wolf), one of the first silver Fortresses of the 457th Bombardment Group, has made 113 missions to bomb strategical targets in Germany and Nazi occupied Europe.

Named for the first pilot to fly the plane, Lt. Cornelius R. Woolf, Cliffwood Beach, New Jersey, El Lobo has 1175 hours flying time, 813 hours of this was flown in actual combat.

A mission to bomb flying-bomb sites was the plane's baptism under fire and a few days later made the longest trip ever attempted by the Eighth Air Force to penetrate deep into Poland and bomb aircraft factories at Gdynia.

The crew chief, Staff Sergeant Dale F. Reimer, Des Moines, Iowa, and his assistants, Sergeant Theodore A. Kuza, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Corporal Joseph F. Thomascik, New Haven, Connecticut, have worked night and day to keep the plane in perfect condition. Many times it has returned from a mission riddled with holes and the boys have had to work all night repairing battle damage. In all, it has had fourteen different engines.

Although it has limped back on two engines, never once has El Lobo aborted for a mechanical reason.

Recently, when the group flew its 200th mission, El Lobo chalked up 100 missions over enemy territory.

There are probably few Forts in the entire Eighth Air Force that can rival the record of El Lobo and its performance is a tribute to the superior maintenance, expert pilotage and the factory employees who build the Flying Fortresses.

Master Sergeant Lester M. Grimm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Grimm, Lamont, Oklahoma, and husband of Mrs. Blanche J. Grimm, 1917 1/2 Santa Ynes, Los Angeles, California, has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, it was recently announced by the commanding general, Eighth Air Force.

The citation accompanying the award read: "For meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy."

Sergeant Grimm, group sergeant major, has been a member of the 457th Bombardment Group since its activation in 1943. He played a large part in organizing and preparing the administrative program and records during the training period prior to overseas service. Since the group has been operating in the great air offensive against the Nazi industrial and military targets within Germany and Nazi occupied Europe.

He is a graduate of the Senior High School, Deer Creek, Oklahoma, where he was active in the sports program as a member of the football and track teams. He then attended the Oklahoma A & M College.

[REDACTED]

Prior to his entry into the Army Air Forces on 19 January 1942, he was employed by the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Los Angeles Division.

Staff Sergeant Frank L. Humphries, son of Mrs. M. L. Norris, of 3431 Mission Street, San Francisco, California, and husband of Mrs. Linda Humphries, of 2930 Foster Court, Denver, Colorado, has been with the 457th Bombardment Group for several months participating in the Eighth Air Force's huge daylight precision bombing assaults against Hitler's sagging Festung Europa.

On a recent raid to Berlin, Sergeant Humphries was in his position as chin turret gunner of his Flying Fortress when a group of Nazi twin jet-propelled planes started to attack his formation. He brought his guns to bear on these onrushing German planes - squeezing the triggers for several long bursts. Humphries found his aim was true, and one of the enemy jet planes, which had received many direct hits from his gun, exploded and flew into pieces. Gunners on other Forts in the formation were re-enacting the same scene all over the sky, and when the final score was tabulated back in England, it was found that the group had destroyed two, probably destroyed one, and damaged another of these new jet planes of the German Air Force.

Sergeant Humphries attended Tonkawa Junior College, Tonkawa, Oklahoma, and while there was very active in sports, participating in both golf and tennis. He was associated in the Denver office of the United States Rubber Company in their order department. He joined the Armed Forces on 1 November, 1943.

ANOTHER MILESTONE.....OUR TWO HUNDREDTH MISSION

*****
 * "TAIT ACCOMPLI" *
 * Yesterday's highlight was the completion of the two *
 * hundredth mission of our Group. This has been accom- *
 * plished in just a little more than one year - a justifi- *
 * fiably proud record - and was made possible only thru *
 * the cooperation and coordination of all units on the * * base. A strict sense of devotion to duty and a keen * * interest in doing an excellent job has been the per- * * fect combination. We now consider ourselves seasoned *
 * campaigners and look forward to more successes in the * * future. Let's continue our enviable record. *

1. OFFICIAL: ATTN ALL PERSONNEL - The following letter from Hq USSTAF, dated 2 Mar 45, is quoted for information and compliance:

"This headquarters is advised that considerable difficulty exists in insuring that baggage belonging to returnees to the Zone of Interior is delivered to the proper places at the proper time. In order to avoid this difficulty, it is requested that all returnees to the Zone of Interior carry with them all baggage and personal equipment to reinforcement depots and that same accompanies them while enroute to the States.

"In the event returnees leave laundry, dry cleaning, or other personal effects at their stations when they depart for reinforcement depots for shipment to the Zone of Interior, it is also requested that such property be packed in a barracks bag, duffel bag or wooden box and plainly marked with name, rank and serial number of the owner and forward to the reinforcement depot to which the returnee was sent prior to departure for his final destination."

4. NOTICE: ATTN ALL PERSONNEL: The following letter, Supreme Headquarters, AEF, dd 6 Mar 45; is quoted:

"I have just returned from a visit in the Julich, Duren, Munchen-Gladbach area.

"As the Allied Armies advance into the former industrialized area of the Rhineland, they are everywhere confronted with striking evidence of the effectiveness of the bombing campaigns carried on for years by Bomber Command, and, since 1942, by the 8th Air Force. City after city has been systematically shattered. Against these our artillery is often used to blast out pill boxes, snipers and hidden tanks, but it could scarcely add to the completeness of the material destruction. Here and there, possibly because of their relative unimportance as industrial centers, certain towns have been largely spared. Those present a remarkable contrast to the ruins of Aachen, Julich, Duren, Cologne and the other Rhineland cities that have been targeted by our big bombers day after day and night after night. The effect on the war economy of Germany has obviously been tremendous; a fact that advancing troops are quick to appreciate and which unflinchingly reminds them of the heroic work of their comrades in Bomber Command and in the United States Air Forces.

"I should like for all units to know that the sacrifices they have made are today facilitating success on all fronts.

Dwight D. Eisenhower "
